

1. The Framework for Restoration

- Humility
- Jesus was lowly in heart and that allowed Him to take on peoples' burdens.

Matthew 11:29

- The thing about humility is it requires vulnerability!

Examine your Framework:

- Do you know how the people around you experience you?
- Do you know what the people around you need from you?
- What adjustments have you made to address those needs?

Value for the Relationship

1 John 3:10-11

1 John 3:14-16

- We express value for the relationship by treating people the way God values and treats them.
- A true value for the relationship means that you are prepared to confront behaviors that threaten the health of relational connections in an honorable way.

Proverbs 17:10

- It also means that you will go out of your way to do whatever it takes to restore the relationship.

Romans 14:19

2. Keys to Confrontation

- Create a safe place for giving and receiving feedback

Ephesians 4:25, 29-32

• The goal of exchanging feedback is to give one another good information about how we are affecting each other in order to strengthen our relational connections.

- Asking good questions

Proverbs 20:5

- Listen to identify the need
- Building solutions
- Every problem must have an owner, and the owner is the best person to fix the problem.

3. When confrontation doesn't go well:

- Wait & Pray
- Grieve
- Manage your Heart
- Set your Boundaries
- Try Again

Matthew 18:15-17
